

No Home in This City Need Have a Dirty, Discolored, Water-Closet Bowl

The household duty that was always the most unpleasant is now made easy. Sani-Flush, a powdered chemical compound, cleans water-closet bowls without scrubbing or touching the bowl with the hands. No matter how badly discolored, it will quickly make the bowl as white as new. It won't injure the bowl or plumbing—nor is it dangerous to handle, like the acids so often used.

What Is An Expert?

Washington, March 11.—Transportation and its relation to the "steel trust" as discussed by the Stanley committee today gave rise to the problem, "What is an expert?" That consumed nearly all the session. The question was raised by Republican members, who insisted that Guy M. Freer, of Columbus, Ohio, was not qualified to testify regarding rates in the Lake Superior region.

The witness qualified as a general expert on transportation questions. Representatives Gardner, Young and Danforth appealed from the decision of the chair when Stanley asked Freer if he regarded an eighty per cent. rate on ore from Lake Superior points to Duluth as "reasonable."

Stanley was upheld by the committee on a party vote of five to four and Freer was permitted to answer. He said that the rate was "reasonable" but refused to specify.

SINISTER PLOT OF HIERARCHY

At Washington to Incarcerate Mrs. Mary E. Glaze in a Lunatic Asylum.

(United Press Leased Wire) Washington, March 12.—The hierarchy of "Washington's 400" may be revealed when Mrs. Mary E. Glaze, a wealthy widow and resident in exclusive Dupont Circle, begins her fight before a shabby jury within the next few days. This was indicated here today when Miss Margaret Gage, her daughter, insisted that the charge of threatening the life of Charles J. Bell, president of a local bank, now registered against her mother, would be resisted bitterly and that Mrs. Glaze's detention at St. Elizabeth's insane asylum for observation was part of a "sinister plot."

Wilbur A. Mott, prosecutory attorney at Newark, N. J., and brother to Mrs. Glaze, arrived here today to aid the woman. He absolutely refused to discuss the case until he had investigated Mrs. Glaze's arrest. Habitus corpus proceedings will be instituted this afternoon to obtain the woman's release. "My mother's arrest," Miss Margaret Gage said, "was brought about in a cowardly fashion by Bell, head of the organization of society real estate dealers in Washington, who are conducting a social Black Hand—a Mafia as vicious as the real Camorra."

Miss Gage asserted that her mother purchased a residence on Dupont circle with the understanding that "they would meet some nice people and get into society."

She charged that, having bought the house, the "society real estate dealers' ring" began circulating reports that they were "unimpaired" and inadmissible to Washington's 400, with the idea, Miss Gage believed, that she and her mother would leave Washington and sell the house at a big sacrifice.

It was admitted at police headquarters today that the warrant detaining the woman pending an inquiry as to her sanity, was issued only after attempts had been made to have Mrs. Glaze's relatives take that step.

Mrs. Glaze was once previously brought into public notice when she sent a de luxe edition of her own book describing her descent from several kings and emperors to every address in the social register.

Bell today denied ever seeing the woman and denied as absurd the daughter's Mafia charge.

Into Their Pockets. Jersey City, N. J., March 12.—At the annual meeting of the Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company, recently created as the result of the dissolution of the tobacco trust, the by laws of the company were amended so that if any one of the company's earnings more than $4,552,784 annually, ten per cent of the increase shall go to the president and five vice presidents. The amount was fixed because it was the maximum earnings of the company while it was part of the trust in 1910. Treasurer Anderson reported total assets at the close of business December 31, 1911, of $69,221,721. After interests payments were made a surplus of $355,623 remained. Officers will be elected in St. Louis next week.

TELEGRAPHIC TABLOIDS

Lenox, Mass.—Cecil Miles, a railroad station agent, will bring 100 rattlesnakes here and start a snake farm on a twelve acre tract. He says he can sell rattlesnake oil for $5 a pint.

Mansfield, O.—Mrs. Wm. McCintock, 21, faintly while she was washing, fell head foremost into the wash tub and was drowned.

Cincinnati.—Dementia with suicidal mania as the result of wearing tight shoes, was diagnosed as the ailment of Mrs. Louise Shull, who made several attempts to end her life.

Naples.—Political notices posted in T. A. D. calling attention to coming elections have been found in a street in Pompeii.

St. Louis, Mo.—"I do not eat meat because in doing so I might be feeding upon the flesh of a better animal than myself," said Prince Paul Troubetzkoy, Russian artist.

New York.—Lady Warwick will entertain a number of actresses tomorrow and try to interest them in support of the cause that she will recommend that none of them speak to a man for a whole year.

Greenville, Pa.—Gandy Lake claims the banner for longevity. The village has seven citizens more than 90 years old, one of them recently celebrated her 99th birthday. A score are more than 80 years old.

Roseville, Cal.—Joseph Cleaver, a Roosevelt enthusiast, who lives on a farm near Roseville, Pa., has shipped a box of 100 four-leaf clovers to the colonel at Oyster Bay.

An Object Lesson. Paris, March 11.—Members of the coal miners union voted to strike today sixty per cent of the country's underground workers are expected to quit work within 24 hours.

The strike was planned as an object lesson. The union leaders wanted to demonstrate to the public, the employers and the government officials, that the demands they recently presented are just. They also wanted to show that they were a unit in supporting them.

These demands include the eight-hour work day, an old age pension of two francs daily, to begin for the workers at 50, and a minimum wage scale modeled after the demands of the British miners.

It was deemed advisable to make the demonstration today because it was felt it would be more effective with the English and German strike progress. If success do not grant the demands, a general strike of French miners is probable.

Chicago, March 12.—Twenty-two nurses at the county hospital, one-fifth of the entire staff, are sick with scarlet fever, diphtheria and other contagious diseases. Every place provided for patients at the hospital is filled and the staff, according to Warden Henry Bailey, is unable to cope with the situation. An investigation of the charge that many nurses have been made ill through overwork in the contagious wards is being investigated by the county authorities, as their systems were so undermined as to be unable to resist the infection.
